

ABSTRACT

A novel extension of the vector space model for computing chemical similarity is described. The instant method uses, for 5 example, the singular value decomposition (SVD) of a molecule/chemical descriptor matrix to create a low dimensional representation of the original descriptor space.

DC: #113716 v2 (2fqs02!.WPD)